MONTANA

VACATION PLANNER

It truly is an honor to govern a state recognized world-wide for its pristine rivers, majestic mountains and wide-open spaces. It's also an honor, on behalf of the warm people of Montana, to invite you to visit our beautiful state. We're proud of our unspoiled land, historic landmarks and exciting recreational opportunities, and we're always eager to share them with visitors. So come explore Montana and discover all the treasures we have to offer.

Sincerely,

Brian Schweitzer

"MONTANA is a great splash of grandeur. The scale is huge but not overpowering."

—John Steinbeck

Welcome to Montana, a state that inspires high praise from high places. Under these big blue skies, you'll find heavenly sights that will remain with you forever, experiences that will thrill you and perhaps best of all, people who will warm your heart and inspire you to return.

With its two jaw-dropping national parks and hundreds of charming towns and cities, Montana is, simply put, a fantastic place to create memories, stir emotions, rejuvenate the soul or just relax and recharge your batteries.

This guide will help you decide exactly which Montana thrills and wonders you need to make your vacation complete. You'll find useful information about many attractions and areas as you begin your quest for the ultimate Montana retreat. But be warned, once you visit Montana, you may never want to leave.

EXPLORE MONTANA'S REGIONS & TOWNS

As the fourth-largest state in the country, Montana is a vast playground that's just waiting to be explored. To make it easy, we've divided our majestic state into six different tourism regions, each of them as beautiful as they are unique.

GLACIER COUNTRY

There are hundreds of reasons to vacation in Glacier Country—in addition to the great big gorgeous one known as Glacier National Park, for which the region is named. From the scenic Bitterroot Valley at the south end of the region to the cultural mecca known as Missoula, Glacier Country is full of natural wonders and exciting attractions. 800-338-5072, www.glacier.visitmt.com

GOLD WEST COUNTRY

Ghost towns are only one way to scare up fun in Gold West Country. Montana's southwest corner boasts riches that can make any vacation memorable, including state parks, blue-ribbon trout streams, museums and art galleries. 800-879-1159, www.goldwest.visitmt.com

RUSSELL COUNTRY

Here you'll find yourself face-to-face with unforgettable adventures in the real West—nearly the same West as Lewis and Clark found two centuries ago. Named after the cowboy artist who captured its essence on canvas, Russell Country offers you incredible wonders that demand to be seen as you cast your line into crystal-blue streams, hike scenic trails and meet warm, friendly people. 800-527-5348, www.russell.visitmt.com

YELLOWSTONE COUNTRY

Yellowstone Country allows you to set free the kid inside of you, with its three entrances to the incredible Yellowstone National Park, the amazing Beartooth Highway, four destination ski resorts, world-class fishing and an unbeatable combination of rugged mountains and large, open spaces. "Recess" here includes fishing a major river or countless lakes and tributaries as well as hiking, bicycling or riding an ATV. 800-736-5276, www.yellowstone.visitmt.com

MISSOURI RIVER COUNTRY

From an immense sky to an enormous lake, Missouri River Country is all about big. Fort Peck Dam, the world's largest hydraulic earth-filled dam, and its accompanying lake, with 1,500 miles of shoreline, set the stage for prime outdoor recreation. And of course nothing's bigger than dinosaurs, the remains of which you'll find at Missouri River Country's museums. Whatever your idea of "big fun" is—it's here. 800-653-1319, www.missouririver.visitmt.com

CUSTER COUNTRY

In Custer Country, you can experience stories come to life—in the face of a 12-year-old dancer at the Crow Fair, in the eyes of a T. rex skeleton or in the pounding hooves at the reenactment of the Battle of the Little Bighorn. This landscape of badlands, flatlands and highlands is also home to great shopping, dining, wildlife viewing and more. 800-346-1876, www.custer.visitmt.com

CROWN OF THE CONTINENT

GLACIER NATIONAL PARK

There are things in life that everyone should experience at least once. Skipping stones over a stunning postcard-perfect lake in Glacier National Park is one of them. Telling ghost stories with kids over a roaring campfire while Glacier's snowpacked mountains loom overhead is another. This is a sanctuary where you can treat your eyes to a million-plus acres of majestic beauty showcasing pristine forests, alpine meadows, rugged mountains and spectacular lakes.

Have you ever seen a mountain goat and her offspring on a rugged mountain and wondered how on earth they got there? You just might in Glacier; the park is full of wildlife and more than 270 bird species. Shortly after you throw on your backpack and hit one of Glacier's many hiking trails, you'll realize that there's always something fascinating to see. In fact, it's a good idea to remember your new digital camera when packing for Glacier, regardless of whether you're coming to bicycle, boat, fish or even ride a horse.

But you needn't be a thrill-seeking outdoorsman to enjoy Glacier. One of the park's most popular attractions is the breathtaking Going-to-the-Sun Road, a 51-mile warm-season joyride where you'll have to pull over from time to time to fully take in the hundreds of magnificent vistas, from soaring mountains to sparkling glaciers.

As you pack your bags and prepare to be awed, you can find out more about the Crown of the Continent at www.visitmt.com/glac.

NATURE'S AMUSEMENT PARK

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK

It's one of those sights that even the best photographers can't quite capture. Shadows are long as the shining sun sets quietly over tall lodgepole pines, while steam rises from the hot springs below to form a strange and wonderful ground fog.

For a park that's gained enormous popularity from its shooting geysers and thundering waterfalls, such a serene scene might surprise you, but that's Yellowstone National Park—full of unpredictable moments and surprises, big and small, thunderous and calm. From the herds of bison you'll spot on your way to see Old Faithful to the roar of Yellowstone Falls providing the soundtrack to your family picnic, there are amazing things in Yellowstone that don't always show up in travel guides.

For more information on America's flagship national park, go to www.visitmt.com/yell.

A VACATION FOR THE MIND & SOUL

A perfect vacation calls for more than just outdoor adventure and worry-free relaxation. You need mental stimulation to stir the mind and soul. In Montana, you'll find countless historical and cultural experiences that will do just that. From musicians jamming on an outdoor stage in a park to museums that will transport you to another time, Montana will stimulate your mind and touch your soul.

For example, you won't soon forget the many dramatic stories of the West told through the brilliant watercolors, drawings and sculptures of Charlie Russell, found inside the C.M. Russell Museum in Great Falls. From tension-filled moments between cowboys and native Indians to peaceful images of Northern Plains Indian life, Russell's art will thrill and inspire you.

And there's nothing quite like a classic Montana rodeo. You'll find yourself cheering a cowboy passing the eight-second mark as he holds on for his life atop a bucking bull.

Is history your "thing?" Take a peek into the life of Lt. Col. George Armstrong Custer. History buffs have made the Little Bighorn Battlefield National Monument enormously popular. Here visitors can soak up the intense atmosphere of that epic 1876 battle. Lewis and Clark also blazed a path through Montana, setting up more than half their camps in the future state. Many of the sights and sounds that awed them remain untouched and unspoiled to this day.

For more information, go to www.visitmt.com/culture and www.visitmt.com/history.

STORIES OF PRIDE AND HONOR

There are thousands of stories waiting to be told on Montana's seven Indian reservations, each one of them deeply moving and filled with pride, honor and tradition. You and your family are invited to experience these stories as they are brought to life through a variety of reenactments, powwows and museums.

You'll be moved by the exhilaration of Native Americans in colorful Indian regalia dancing to the rhythmic beat of pounding drums at the 4th of July Celebration in Arlee. You'll hear thundering hooves as you study the bronze sculpture of the charging Spirit

Warriors at Little Bighorn Battlefield. And you'll be humbled to stand on land once owned by warrior-turned-pacifist Chief Plenty Coups, the last chief of the Crow tribe, in the state park named after him.

The members of Montana's 11 tribes are eager to share their stories with you and your family. They understand that by honoring their past and sharing their legacy, they are preserving their culture for future generations. For more information, visit the Indian Nations website at www.indiannations.visitmt.com.

A ZOO WITHOUT BARS

Everyone loves going to the zoo—and we have an impressive one in Billings. But there's something special about viewing wildlife and birds up close in their natural habitat. Montana's diverse landscapes are home to a variety of animals and birds. And depending upon where you look, you just might be able to fill your photo album with shots of several different species of critters and fowl found under our Big Sky. In fact, Montana has a greater variety of wildlife than any other state in the lower 48.

Imagine walking along one of Montana's lowland streams or rivers, through the cottonwoods and shrubs, and spotting a beautiful white-tailed deer, some busy beavers in the water or perhaps even a hungry blue heron doing a little fishing. You might glimpse a moose making its way across a river. Hear a sweet song on the breeze? It could be a bright lazuli bunting. Avid bird watchers can put a serious dent in their life lists in Montana.

Wonder if that prairie you're passing is completely deserted? Stop for a second look, and you might see pronghorn antelope, prairie dogs and jackrabbits. On the ground you might find the nest of a killdeer, with eggs the color of the soil, while graceful hawks soar in the sky above.

Think of Montana as an enormous natural animal preserve, where at different times and places you can spot pronghorns, bobcats, elk, mountain goats, bighorn sheep, eagles, trumpeter swans, bears, wolves and much more. For more information, go to www.visitmt.com/wildlife.

EXPERIENCE THE EXHILARATING

For many people, the name Montana immediately conjures up images of outdoor recreation—a fly fisherman in a crystal-blue stream casting his line, a backpacker hiking a forest trail surrounded by towering ponderosa pines or a skier gliding down a mountain of glorious white powder.

Montana has truly earned its reputation for outside excitement. In fact, any discussion of our legendary activities threatens to become a laundry list of all outdoor activities possible—fishing, hiking, golfing, rafting, etc. We could go, on but you get the point. There are so many ways to enjoy the outdoors here, you'll have to choose carefully, as you'll never be able to squeeze them all into one vacation.

We even have great ways to relax and unwind outside. For example, imagine the relaxing sensation of sitting in a hot mineral pool while the snow falls. We have several natural hot springs, and the adventurous can hike to find remote springs in which to soak their bones. There are plenty of developed hot springs resorts around the state, too, some that offer luxury rooms and gourmet dining.

Maybe your idea of adventure is feeling the summer breeze, smelling the fresh pine, and hearing the screech of eagles as you pedal your bicycle on one of our dozens of biking trails. Few journeys compare to the thrill of cruising up a mountain trail and watching elk or spotting a mountain goat perched on a cliff. These are just a few ways to experience Montana's great outdoors. You can find more at www.visitmt.com/experience.

A COMPLETE WESTERN GETAWAY

RANCH VACATIONS

How about vacationing in a world that feels light years away from your day-to-day routine? A world immortalized by the American Cowboy. Let your current life disappear for a spell as you live out the Montana dude ranch experience. It doesn't matter whether you've never been on a horse or you're an experienced rider; before long, you and your horse will be in perfect unison.

Imagine the possibilities of your adventure. Perhaps you'll fly-fish, picnic on an open range, or maybe just enjoy a pastoral setting where computers can't be found. You may learn a skill, such as how to track animals. You may take a pack trip into the wilderness and hear bugling elk, tell stories in front of a campfire or participate in a cattle drive on a working cattle ranch.

The best thing about a ranch vacation is you only need to bring yourself. All-inclusive vacations include meals, lodging and activities with a personalized touch. You'll be taken care of from morning to night. To learn more about ranch vacations, go to www.montanadra.com or www.visitmt.com/experience.

UNIQUE THRILLS

Looking to satisfy that urge to try something different? Welcome to Montana, remedy for the been-there-done-that blues. At our diverse state parks, you can experience dozens of adventures that range from "slightly out-of-the-ordinary" to "only-in-Montana."

You may have toured a cave before but have you ever done it in December by candlelight? You can at the Lewis & Clark Caverns State Park. And chances are, you've never experienced a real-life outlaw shootout. You can do that and many other unique things during Bannack Days, held every summer in Bannack State Park. Try your luck at gold panning or take a ride in a horse-drawn wagon along Bannack's main street.

In Montana, you can also pretend you're renowned paleontologist Jack Horner while participating in a dinosaur dig. Maybe you'll unearth a new species. Our famed Dinosaur Trail is an adventure 150 million years in the making and features 15 museums and sites, each with unique contributions to the paleontology world. You can almost hear a roar as you look into the angry eyes of the replica of Peck's Rex at Fort Peck, one of the world's most complete T. rex skeletons. For more information, visit www.mtdinotrail.org.

Perhaps your trip to Montana will be the vacation where you try scuba diving at Spring Meadow Lake State Park. Or try your hand at the 18-hole disc golf course at Makoshika State Park. These are just a few of more than 50 unique state parks in Montana. For more information, visit www.fwp.mt.gov/parks.

PLACES TO STAY

The very definition of "vacation" includes the word "rest," and in Montana there are countless ways you can find a perfect night's sleep. From camping out under the stars in the cool evening air tucked inside a comfy sleeping bag to laying your weary head on a soft pillow on a fluffy mattress at a quaint bed-and-breakfast, we have something for every taste. Our many hotels range from budget friendly to posh. We've even got some unique ways to slumber, including bunking in a rustic cabin, a tepee or even a caboose! So regardless of what brings you to Montana—the magnificent sights, the thrilling recreational opportunities or the warm, inviting people—rest assured, you'll also be able to catch up on your beauty sleep. For more information on places to stay, go to

DINING & RESTAURANTS

Montana vacations are known to feed the soul and rejuvenate the spirit, but one cannot survive on mere beautiful landscapes, thrilling experiences and stimulating culture.

No, one must nourish the body, too, and Montana offers the hungry vacationer countless opportunities to dine in elegance or simplicity.

Big Sky Country is big steak country, and you can find a delicious, mouthwatering steakhouse—or two or three—in just about all of our principal cities and towns. At many posh restaurants throughout the state, you can complement your certified Angus beef or freshly caught rainbow trout with a full-bodied Montana wine or a stout microbrew.

Or, you can feast upon a delicious pastry in Butte. Once you've tasted one of these meat-and-potato pies, you'll crave them forever. You can also dine aboard a train on a 60-mile, round-trip journey through the mountains and prairies of central Montana. Craving sushi? Whitefish is your place.

The best way to find a great restaurant is to ask the locals. They will be glad to hook you up with their favorites. Regardless of what dining experience you choose, you can bet that in Montana, it will be divine. For more information, go to www.visitmt.com/food.

PURCHASE A PIECE OF MONTANA

For some people, the best type of vacation involves at least some retail therapy. And you can't return home from your Montana vacation without a souvenir or two for your friends and family. Fortunately, even our shopping offers fun and excitement.

Whatever your style or budget, you're sure to find what you're looking for here. Our Western boutiques, antiques shops and historic downtowns offer a vast selection of high-quality merchandise. The fun begins as you search for something out of the ordinary. In the town of Philipsburg, for example, you can actually mine for your own sapphire and have it set at the Sapphire Gallery, the only exclusive sapphire and ruby store in the United States. You'll also find unique and fascinating Made-in-Montana items as you stroll the walking mall on Last Chance Gulch in Helena, or the downtown shopping districts of Bozeman, Butte, Great Falls, Kalispell and Missoula.

Want to avoid the crowds? Most of Montana's smaller towns and cities boast a main street full of quaint shops waiting to be explored.

And perhaps best of all, we have no state sales tax! For more information, go to www.visitmt.com/shopping.

A CONSTANT STATE OF INVIGORATION

Can only get away in April or October? No problem. When it comes to vacations in Montana, there is no off-season. Our spring and fall seasons are often warm enough for many of the recreational activities that make us a favorite of outdoor enthusiasts worldwide. In fact, some prefer the extra peace and solitude that come with fall or spring visits. Regardless of when you come—winter, spring, summer or fall, you'll find no shortage of ways to make your vacation the best ever.

Winter here means more than just excellent skiing, it's also the time to punch some holes in the ice and fish. Or you could try commanding a team of sled dogs. Spring is the perfect time to see as many as 300,000 snow geese and 10,000 tundra swans gather at Freezeout Lake near Fairfield. And in the fall, you can catch the spectacular sight of several hundred elk congregating during a rut near Lewistown.

Don't let the calendar tell you when it's time to come to Montana. The invitation is always open and the excitement is always available. For fall color information, call 800-354-4595 or visit www.fs.fed.us/r1/news/fallcolors.shtml.

TIME FOR A ROAD TRIP

BOZEMAN/LIVINGSTON/YELLOWSTONE TRIP

Starting in Bozeman, 90 minutes northwest of Yellowstone National Park, this trip is packed with sights and sounds that will exhilarate the whole family. Home of the Museum of the Rockies, Bozeman is also where you'll find "The Emerson." This hub of the local art scene is packed with galleries, performances and exhibits. Bozeman is a great city to get outside, with recreational activities throughout the area. After, you can head to Montana Ale Works for great food and beer.

Once you've torn yourself away from Bozeman, cruise over to Livingston, 25 miles away. You've seen this quaint town in A River Runs Through It, now discover it for yourself. Visit a few of the town's 15-plus art galleries or the Livingston Depot Center, which features a three-room model railroad display. Try some Mediterranean fare at the Second Street Bistro.

From Livingston, it's off to experience nature's miracles at Yellowstone National Park. We suggest the upper- and lower-loop road trips, which highlight the best of the best over a two-day period. The first stop is at the terraces of Mammoth Hot Springs. The Albright Visitor Center at Mammoth can provide historical background on everything in the park. From Mammoth, the route winds through forests that lead to the Lamar Valley, where you might spot a wolf or grizzly bear. As you begin the lower loop, you'll be amazed by the park's largest geyser areas—Norris to the north and Old Faithful to the south. On the eastern side of this route, you'll find the Grand Canyon of the Yellowstone and Hayden Valley. Farther south, you can fish at Yellowstone Lake. From there, follow the Firehole River to Madison Junction, where you might glimpse trumpeter swans and elk. The road along the Madison River takes you to the park's West Entrance. For more information on this trip, go to www.visitmt.com/ynptrip.

CROWN OF THE CONTINENT TRIP

Gorgeous road trips can also be found in Montana's other national park, Glacier. In fact, one of the most scenic road trips in the United States can be accessed via Glacier's east entrance at Browning. Start your trip in Many Glacier, where the razor-sharp mountains loom right in front of you. The area makes a fine base for hiking, canoeing and horseback riding. Grinnell Glacier, one of the largest glaciers in the park, is a must-see. At night, bask in a gorgeous Glacier sunset.

On day two, you can experience the popular Going-to-the-Sun Road. There are many ways to navigate the 51-mile joyride. Feel free to improvise but make time for St. Mary Lake. The lakeside Sun Point trailhead is a veritable "peak-finder"—nine peaks are visible from here.

The road continues its climb to Logan Pass, where the visitor center features alpine-zone plant and animal exhibits. A variety of trails are easy to access from here, as well.

Drop down the other side of the mountain to witness the Weeping Wall. Visit Lake McDonald Lodge for a cold microbrew or lemonade. Stay the night there or at West Glacier's Belton Chalet, which features fine dining, a spa and more.

On the third day, you'll return to Browning, skirting Glacier's southern edge. As you head east on U.S. Highway 2, watch for the Walton Goat Lick pulloff, where mountain goats gather to lick the mineral-laden rock. Down the road is Essex, home of the historic Izaak Walton Inn, a well-known lunch stop and a perfect place for lodging if you stay an extra day. For more information on this trip, go to www.visitmt.com/gnptrip.

Several great scenic drives offer a big taste of the Montana experience in just a single day. Check out a few of them at www.visitmt.com/drives.

Mother Earth offers few life-changing experiences like the world-renowned Glacier National Park. But to fully appreciate Glacier Country, you'll need to explore this entire wonderful region.

A good place to start would be the gorgeous Flathead Valley—famous for the largest natural freshwater lake in the western United States, a lake where you can carve some early-morning glass on your water skis or catch a few lake trout. And don't forget to bring your golf clubs. With nine championship courses, all within a 45-minute drive, this is the perfect place to tee it high and let it fly. Want to unwind after a day on the course? Enjoy a delicious, sizzling Montana steak and ice-cold microbrew in nearby Kalispell.

Consider yourself an adrenaline junkie? How does a nature walk 70 feet above the ground among the forest treetops sound? Whitefish Mountain Resort's "Walk in the Tree Tops" is a two-and-a-half-hour guided tour that offers spectacular views of the Flathead Valley from an elevated boardwalk that runs through the treetop canopy. And for those looking to add a little speed to their adventure, the resort's brand-new Alpine Zip Line may be just the ticket.

The southern end of Glacier Country offers more unique experiences. Picture yourself hiking past spectacular views in the mammoth Bitterroot Mountains, where you might spot a majestic golden eagle, red-tailed hawk or any of the other 230 bird species found in the breathtaking Bitterroot National Forest. Or tour a former Copper King's opulent mansion near the Bitterroot Valley's principal city of Hamilton.

Take advantage of all there is to do in Montana's Garden City, Missoula, where you can catch a Shakespearean play in a local theater, ride on a hand-carved carousel or listen to live music on a downtown street corner. Or maybe take in an exciting Griz sporting event at the University of Montana.

You and your family will also enjoy a uniquely western experience in the picturesque and charming town of Bigfork, home to world-class art galleries, fine restaurants and Eagle Bend, a beautiful 27-hole golf course. Indulge in a hilarious comedy or moving drama at the Bigfork Summer Playhouse, celebrated as one of the Northwest's finest repertory theaters for more than 40 years. Chosen as "One of the 50 Great Towns of the West," Bigfork is near the Swan Mountains and the Bob Marshall Wilderness, meaning you might spy some of the locals—a herd of Rocky Mountain elk or a black bear playing with her cubs. Glacier Country is also home to the National Bison Range at Moiese.

Of course, the recreational opportunities are endless in this part of the state, including a special treat for bicyclists. Whether you're a hardcore rider or just want to take the family out for a relaxing bike ride, Glacier Country features the amazing Hiawatha Rail Trail, an inspiring 46-mile trek cresting the Bitterroot Mountains, complete with spectacular views of alpine lakes and unbroken forests. With ten tunnels, including the 1.8-mile Taft Tunnel and seven high trestles, the Route of the Hiawatha on the old Milwaukee Road is one of the premier rail trails in the United States.

And in a state that's full of "hand-me-the-camera" sights, Glacier Country offers yet one more via the Kootenai Swinging Bridge. You'll be amazed at the spectacular vista of the Kootenai River gorge from this unique bridge. At 2,100 feet in elevation, the bridge was originally built by the U.S. Forest Service to access forest fires. Last year's 426 inches of Rocky Mountain Snow was life changing for those who experienced it, but the more than 300 inches that fall here on average aren't too shabby either. To top it off, we've got a laid back vibe like you haven't experienced at any other ski resort this century, on-mountain lodging for all tastes and budgets, and a real mountain town to call home. Whitefish Mountain Resort - the BEST ski vacation, EVER.

* Due to Heisenberg's uncertainty principle of quantum physics, observing your Whitefish ski vacation will inherently alter that vacation, so all measurements of the quality of said experience will be unreliable. "Best, ever" is therefore an approximation of the relevant probability curve.

goldwest.visitmt.com

Listen carefully as you explore the deserted streets of Gold West's ghost towns. You might hear the tinkling sound of a saloon piano in Bannack or a couple of gold miners brawling over a claim in Virginia City. Take the scenic Garnet Back Country Byway, just 15 miles west of Drummond, and set your imagination free in the well-preserved ghost town of Garnet, where the local Union Hall once bustled with feisty union squabbles as well as dances, plays and festivals. Ghost towns are only one of many ways to scare up fun in Montana's southwest corner.

The chills continue in Gold West Country's historic Butte, where you won't soon forget the eerie sensation you feel as you examine the old mining mainframes. Of course, these memories will be greatly enhanced by the priceless photo of the six-pound brown trout your daughter caught while fly-fishing the Madison River in the gorgeous Beartrap Canyon—or any of the other rivers and lakes that feed the scenic mountain valleys of southwest Montana. And if you're still looking to fill that photo album, have a fellow visitor snap a shot or two of the whole family in one of the highly decorated limestone caverns at Lewis & Clark Caverns State Park, Montana's first and best-known state park.

Gold West Country is the site of the legendary encounter between the non-treaty bands of the Nez Perce and the 7th U.S. Infantry led by Colonel John Gibbon. Imagine the thunderous gun shots that shattered a peaceful dawn on a slumbering camp of Nez Perce on August 9, 1877, as Gibbon and his men carried out orders to stop the Nez Perce and force their return to Idaho. You and your family can get a fascinating look at the Battle of the Big Hole through an interpretive center and historical trails that fully tell the vivid story.

And sometimes in life, you just have to "take the scenic route," and nowhere is a route more scenic than the 63-mile stretch on MT Highway 1 known as the Pintler Scenic Highway. This breathtaking drive goes from Anaconda, one of Montana's most historic towns, to Georgetown Lake and Philipsburg. This road less traveled winds through both conifer-clad mountains and sage-covered hills following Flint Creek and is a fantastic alternative to I-90 when traveling between Butte and Missoula. Be sure to stop in Granite Ghost Town State Park along the way.

After all this excitement, you may need a day or two to unwind. We suggest stepping into one of the region's six relaxing hot springs, all fed from natural geothermal features. There's something special about diving into the hot waters of the outdoor Olympic-size swimming pool at Fairmont Hot Springs Resort, especially when it's cold outside. The kids will love zooming down the 350-foot enclosed waterslide. Fairmont also features an indoor pool, a golf course and tennis courts. GATES OF THE MOUNTAINS

Named by the Lewis & Clark Expedition, this stunning stretch of the Missouri River features towering rock formations and gorgeous canyons. Most visitors enjoy the beauty of the Gates of the Mountains from one of three tour boats. The 105-minute cruise starts at a marina just three miles off I-15 in the foothills of the Rocky Mountains near Helena. Aboard a comfortable open-air river boat (covered in case of rain), you'll glide through magnificent country that has not changed since the days of Lewis and Clark.

MADISON CANYON EARTHQUAKE LAKE VISITOR CENTER

Get an eerie yet fascinating reminder of nature's violence just south of Ennis on U.S. Highway 287. In 1959, an earthquake slid half a mountain into a canyon, creating a giant dam and Quake Lake. The visitor center lies at the western end of the Madison River Canyon Earthquake Area and overlooks Earthquake Lake, offering a view of the Madison slide. The center features interpretive programs about the 1959 earthquake and a working seismograph.

PIONEER MOUNTAINS SCENIC BYWAY

Bring the video camera on this tour through the Beaverhead-Deerlodge National Forest, south of Wise River, where you can travel the length of the Pioneer Mountain Range. Granite peaks topping 10,000 feet in elevation are to the east, with gentler, forested terrain to the west. You'll view mountain meadows, lodgepole pine forests and broad willow bottoms. Stop at the interpretive sites along the byway for an interesting history of the Pioneer Mountains, and visit the ghost town of Coolidge along the way.

RED ROCK LAKES NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE

Treat your eyes to what has often been called the most beautiful national wildlife refuge in the United States. The rugged Centennial Mountains, rising more than 9,000 feet above the Centennial Valley wetlands, provide a dramatic backdrop for this extremely remote refuge, east of Lima. The inherent solitude and ideal habitat has made this the perfect place for reviving declining populations of the majestic trumpeter swan.

You'll add Russell Country to your Montana itinerary because you long to come face-to-face with the real West. And this is definitely the place to do just that. Named after Charles M. Russell, the celebrated cowboy artist who captured its essence on canvas, Russell Country offers incredible Rocky Mountain Front wonders that will capture your imagination as you cast your line into crystal-blue streams, hike breathtaking trails and meet warm, inviting people. But it's the little things that will make you fall in love with this region. From tasting the "world's best milkshakes" in Judith Gap to boarding a ferry at the century-old crossing on the Missouri River to reach the homestead-era town of Virgelle, Russell Country's unique experiences will create great memories and vacations.

Lewis and Clark explored Russell Country more than two centuries ago, but if you're canoeing the Upper Missouri National Wild and Scenic River as they did, it might as well have been yesterday. The wonders they saw—from magnificent canyons to awesome sandstone formations—are as amazing now as they were then. Since that will give you just a taste of what the Corps of Discovery experienced, why not take it a step further and find out even more at the spectacular Lewis & Clark National Historic Trail Interpretive Center in Great Falls—a fun and interactive place to relive the Corps' legendary 8,000-mile journey in 1804-06 across western North America.

A much shorter and more convenient trail in Russell Country is the Hands of Harvest trail system, an unusual and fun way to discover the real Montana. Five trails take you and your family on tours of north-central Montana's unique crafters and artisans who celebrate our heritage and the diversity of this region. Meet artistic farmers and ranchers, as well as residents who work in our small towns. And unlike Lewis and Clark, you can even get your hands on a guidebook to the Hands of Harvest Trails, which will show you more than 100 places to visit. Each trail section has a map with stops listed sequentially.

Anglers and their families can find plenty of fun and excitement in Russell Country. The region is packed with streams and lakes, such as the Tiber Reservoir, just east of Shelby. One of the most versatile recreational areas in Montana, Tiber Dam-Lake Elwell is THE place for excellent year-round angling for walleye, northern and sauger pike, native trout, ling, perch and more. You can even try your hand at bow fishing for carp that often exceed 20 pounds.

Montana's oldest community, Fort Benton, is one of Russell Country's hidden gems. Just 40 miles from Great Falls, this is the historic town where you can walk along the steamboat levee and the part of the town once dubbed "the bloodiest block in the West." It's also the place to find historic "Old" Fort Benton, currently under archaeological study and in the process of being reconstructed. Explore the world of early fur traders and steamboats at the Museum of the Upper Missouri and the Museum of the Northern Great Plains. Then cap off your day by spending a night in the legendary and newly restored Grand Union Hotel on the banks of the Missouri River, the state's oldest operating hotel.

Fort Benton isn't the only place to find history in Russell Country. In Havre, you can take an underground peek at Montana history with Havre Beneath the Streets, a fun re-creation of the city's past. Order your free Russell Country guide by calling 800-527-5348 or go to www.russell.visitmt.com.

CHARLIE RUSSELL CHEW-CHOOS

Experience a spectacular evening as you travel by train through the mountains and prairies of central Montana. See the beauty of the rolling hills, ranchlands and a breathtaking sunset on this scenic 56-mile round-trip journey that begins 10 miles northwest of Lewistown. Wildlife viewing features a plentiful supply of eagles, deer, hawks and coyotes. Crossing three trestles and passing through a half-mile tunnel, the three-and-a-half-hour trip in climate-controlled coaches includes a prime rib dinner and live music.

PINE BUTTE SWAMP PRESERVE

Abutting the Bob Marshall Wilderness, some 60 miles southeast of Glacier National Park near Choteau, Pine Butte Swamp is at the heart of the largest wild expanse in the contiguous 48 states. This huge wildlife preserve is home to more than 150 species of birds and 43 species of mammals. It is also the site of Egg Mountain, which harbors one of the richest paleontological finds of our century: Maiasaura peeblesorum, the "good mother lizard." Many nests, eggs, hatchlings and juveniles have been unearthed here. This research has provided more insight into dinosaur behavior than any other site in the world. The Pine Butte Guest Ranch provides tours of the preserve and the surrounding wild country to its guests.

Whether you're 4 years old or 40, you need a place to play. Yellowstone Country, "America's First Playground," fits the bill perfectly. The kid in you will love the exhilarating thrill of skiing down a mountain near Bozeman or in Red Lodge, or the excitement of discovering some geothermal wonder at Yellowstone National Park. And both you and your kids will find yourselves giddy over pulling a rainbow trout out of the headwaters of the Missouri River—or out of just about any other river in Yellowstone Country, for that matter. But be careful—there are places in Yellowstone Country where you may learn a few things—like at the Beartooth Nature Center, home to more than 70 native wild animals—but you'll have so much fun, it will still feel like recess. Throw in the three exciting gateways to the astonishing Yellowstone National Park, with its amazing sights and sounds, and you'll realize this is truly a playground for the kid in everyone.

When considering just how to begin your Yellowstone recess, you may first want to grab your fishing pole. With up to 3,000 fish per mile in the many Yellowstone Country streams, you're bound to pull out more than a few browns, cutthroats, rainbows and brookies as you fish blue-ribbon trout streams like the Yellowstone, Gallatin and Madison Rivers.

If you love the water but fishing's not your gig, grab your kayak and feel the rush of the river as you paddle past House Rock and tame the rapids of the beautiful Gallatin River, one of Montana's best kayak destinations.

How about a treat for the eyes? The Beartooth Highway (aka U.S. Highway 212), from Cooke City to Red Lodge, traverses from Montana into Wyoming and back into Montana, crossing some of the highest and most spectacular country under the Big Sky. Television commentator Charles Kuralt called the route over the Beartooth Plateau "the most scenic drive in America."

Another popular section of this playground is Big Sky Resort and Moonlight Basin, home to the "Biggest Skiing in America." These two ski areas offer instant access to some of the most diverse skiing and snowboarding in the lower 48. If you're visiting us in the warm season, bring your golf clubs. You'll love teeing off on the challenging and beautiful 18-hole Arnold Palmer-designed Big Sky Golf Course, which offers spectacular views of Lone Mountain and surrounding peaks. Then hop on your mountain bike and get even closer to the wilderness on one of the area's many biking trails.

Take in the scenic splendor of the magnificent Gallatin Canyon as you drive from Bozeman on U.S. Highway 191, which parallels the Gallatin River, skirts the magnificent Spanish Peaks and enters the northwest corner of Yellowstone National Park. Bring your boots, pole and raft, as the Gallatin River is a great place to fish, hike and do a little whitewater rafting.

Imagine the look on your child's face as he helps staff hide food for real bears at the Grizzly and Wolf Discovery Center in the town of West Yellowstone. Bring the family to the center in the early morning or evening, and you might hear the active wolf pack howling majestically. And prepare to be awed at the live birds of prey and the "Bears: Imagination and Reality" exhibit. The bears at the center, removed from the wild because they were becoming dangerously comfortable around humans, help teach a valuable lesson on what people can do to ensure bears stay forever wild. Here, it's not just the mountain that's massive. It's the opportunity for excitement. Some will find it dog sledding or snowshoeing. Others will experience it with great dining options or activities the kids will enjoy in the Village. Big Sky is the perfect escape with the family. Or from the family. Visit bigskyrort.com or call 1-800-544-4845.

Big enough for you. And your mother-in-law.

Beyond the biggest skiing in America.

“One never knows what adventures lie beyond your door when you stay in Yellowstone.

By summer, you could watch bison cross emerald fields a stone's throw from your room. By winter, you can marvel at wolf howls echoing throughout the snowy hillsides. You don't just get to see some amazing natural sights. You are a part of them.”

missouririver.visitmt.com

Everyone knows bigger is usually better. That makes the dramatic, wide-open land known as Missouri River Country a great place to vacation. Here you can see and do "big" things, like witness a herd of mighty bull elk bugling in a cottonwood grove, come face-to-face with a ferocious dinosaur (or at least the remains of a dinosaur), and maybe even learn to carry the heartbeat of the Indian nation by beating a drum at an authentic powwow. From the enormous blue sky that covers vast reaches of plains, badlands and prairie wilderness to the great big smiles on the people who will welcome you, Missouri River Country is all about big.

Fort Peck Dam—the world's largest hydraulic earth-filled dam—and an enormous lake full of fish set a dramatic stage for anyone looking for outdoor recreation. It's highly unlikely you'll have to fabricate any tall tales when you return from a fishing trip to Missouri River Country. Fort Peck boasts 1,500 miles of shoreline, and you'll find peace and quiet, accompanied by a few friends and plenty of walleye, smallmouth bass, ling and chinook salmon. Breathe in the fresh Montana air as you cast your line into Nelson Reservoir, about 17 miles from Malta, which covers 4,500 acres and is home to record-sized walleye, yellow perch and northern pike. And don't forget the C.M. Russell Wildlife Refuge, an angler's paradise, which stretches along the Missouri River through the heart of Missouri River Country. You'll find trout, salmon, pike and the extraordinary flat-billed paddlefish, native to the Yellowstone and Missouri Rivers. It isn't unusual to land a 65-pounder here. No, really, we mean it!

For birders, Missouri River Country is heaven. If you live for that next big find, relishing the natural sights, sounds and serenity of spotting an unusual or rare species, take your birding list and binoculars on the Northeastern Plains Birding Trail. Showcasing three national wildlife refuges, the trail offers a vast diversity of birds that not only captivates the beginning birder but also keeps experienced birders coming back for more.

And, of course, all this "bigness" started millions of years ago when dinosaurs made this once lush wetland their home. Missouri River Country's wealth of world-class fossil discoveries has turned the area into "Dino Country." Watching Jurassic Park will never be the same after you've seen for yourself the remains of several species of dinosaurs at area museums, including a Triceratops skull at the Fort Peck Powerhouse Museum in Fort Peck and the skeleton and fleshed-out copy of Peck's Rex at the Fort Peck Dam Interpretive Center and Museum. You can even watch bone preparation, molding and casting of original fossils at the Fort Peck Paleontology Field Station, a mile from the center.

Not enough dino fun for your eight-year-old? Head to the Phillips County Museum and see fossil discoveries from the nearby Judith River Formation. Displays include a 33-foot-long skeleton of "Elvis" the Brachylophosaurus, one of the best articulated dinosaur skeletons ever found; a complete T. rex skull; and a dynamically posed 28-foot skeleton of an early T. rex cousin, Albertosaurus. Have grandma pose with a 700-pound Apatosaurus femur. And don't forget the Great Plains Dinosaur Museum and Field Station, which offers an intimate look into a working fossil laboratory. You'll also find Leonardo, the Mummy Dinosaur, (Guinness Book of World Records' "best-preserved dinosaur," 2003) and other remarkably preserved members of the Brachylophosaurus family. Order your free Missouri River Country guide by calling 800-653-1319 or go to www.missouririver.visitmt.com.

BIG SKY BACK COUNTRY BYWAY

Traveling through the Great Plains section of Montana, the Big Sky Back Country Byway traverses the vast expanses of land and sky that has earned Montana its nickname. With the Missouri River and Wolf Point at the byway's northern end and the Yellowstone River and the town of Terry at the southern end, this 105-mile byway is a great place to fish, hunt, hike and sightsee.

BOWDOIN NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE

Located near Malta, Bowdoin's purpose is to preserve and enhance resting, feeding and breeding habitat for migratory birds and other wildlife. The refuge attracts migrating waterfowl and shorebirds, and provides breeding and nesting habitat for ducks, geese, grassland songbirds and colonial nesting water birds. The area is also important to raptors, white-tailed deer, pronghorn antelope, sharp-tailed grouse and coyotes. Threatened species include the bald eagle and piping plover.

CHARLES M. RUSSELL NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE

You'll find bugling elk, herds of mule deer, red foxes and coyotes in this scenic refuge that stretches along the Missouri River. Songbirds, like the mountain bluebird and black-capped chickadee, are here in abundance as well. And bring your fishing pole. You'll find trout, salmon, pike and the flat-billed paddlefish, native to the Yellowstone and Missouri Rivers. Easiest access to the area is through the Pines Recreation Area, 30 miles southwest of Fort Peck.

UL BEND NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE

This "refuge within a refuge" lies south of Malta within the Charles M. Russell National Wildlife Refuge and contains 20,000 acres of designated wilderness. It is the site of an ongoing effort to rescue one of North America's most endangered animals, the black-footed ferret. Large black-tailed prairie dog towns, on which ferrets depend, are concentrated on the refuge. Magnificent sage grouse displays can be seen in early spring as birds gather to breed.

custer.visitmt.com

Custer Country is a magical place where stories come alive. You can feel these stories in the shining face of a 12-year-old dancer at the Crow Fair, in the eyes of a towering T. rex skeleton and in the pounding hooves at the reenactment of the Battle of the Little Bighorn. With beautiful sights, historic monuments and the state's largest city, Billings, Custer Country will leave you and your family with your own stories to tell—stories of a vacation filled with thrilling moments and life-changing experiences.

Your personal story of the Great Custer Country Vacation can begin in hundreds of exciting ways. One of the best is to hop in the car and take the family on the Best of the West scenic loop tour. Enjoy a kaleidoscope of natural beauty as you encounter history, culture, trophy fishing and great food. Your journey begins in Billings and heads north on U.S. Highway 87 to Roundup and the beautiful Bull Mountains. In Roundup, take the scenic River Walk Heritage Trail, where you may spot a few of the area's 80 bird species like a nesting great horned owl or yellow-breasted chat; or discover the coal tunnel housed inside the Musselshell Valley Historical Museum.

From Roundup, head east on U.S. Highway 12 and see the unusual sandstone structures

visible from the highway. Try the "Best Cowboy Beans in the West" at the century-old Jersey Lilly Saloon in Ingomar. Driving southeast on U.S. 12 brings you to Forsyth, featuring the beautiful courthouse built in 1912. From Forsyth, you're 90 minutes away via I-94 back to Billings. Don't forget to stop at Pompeys Pillar, east of Billings. This sandstone outcropping is home to the only physical evidence left by the Lewis and Clark Corps of Discovery—Captain William Clark's signature, carved in 1806. Climb to the top and admire the sweeping vista, just as Clark did 200 years ago. Back in Billings, pamper yourself with a trip to a spa followed by an Italian feast or some gourmet dining at one of the many great Billings restaurants. You'll find plenty of entertaining and relaxing diversions in Montana's largest city.

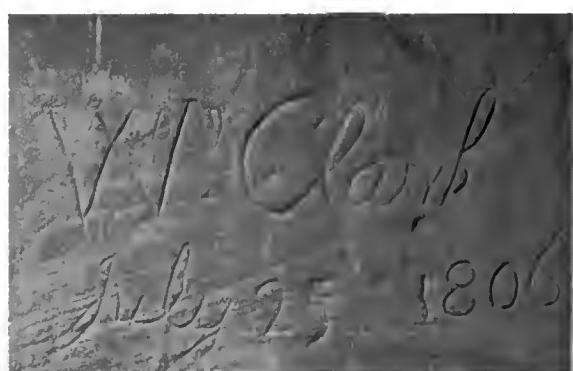

Add an exciting chapter to your Custer Country story in Miles City, home of the world-famous Bucking Horse Sale rodeo. Held every May, this event is a weekend-long party. In addition to the classic confrontations between cowboy and bronc, this annual extravaganza features pari-mutuel horse racing on Saturday and Sunday, a street dance on Friday and Saturday nights, a parade and more.

Every story needs some pictures, and in the town of Terry you can see magnificent photos at the Evelyn Cameron Gallery. Lady Cameron took startlingly clear pictures of cowboys, sheepherders, weddings, river crossings, workers, eagles, coyotes and wolves. These masterpieces chronicle the lives of Terry's early settlers and offer a fascinating glimpse of early Montana.

There are countless other chapters to add to your Custer Country story, including the Bighorn Canyon National Recreation Area, Montana's "mini grand canyon." You'll relish the sounds of family members as they "ooh and ahhh" with wide-eyed excitement. You're sure to spot a variety of wildlife in the area, too. And, of course, Bighorn Canyon is a great place to enjoy boating, fishing, camping and hiking.

This immense landscape of badlands, flatlands and highlands known as Custer Country is also full of places to shop to your heart's content, hike, view exciting wildlife and a whole lot more. Order your free Custer Country guide by calling 800-346-1876 or go to www.custer.visitmt.com

CARTER COUNTY MUSEUM

Founded in 1936, this is Montana's first county museum. Located in Ekalaka, the museum houses some of the finest paleontological discoveries in the United States, as well as numerous artifacts depicting the lives of Native Americans and the early settlers of Carter County. Among the paleontological treasures are a mounted skeleton of an Anatotitan copei (duck-billed hadrosaur), complete skulls of Triceratops horridus (three horns) and a Nanotyrannus lancensis (tiny tyrannosaur), all collected in the Cretaceous Hell Creek Formation.

LITTLE BIGHORN BATTLEFIELD NATIONAL MONUMENT

Take a peek into the life of one of the world's most celebrated military figures, Lt. Col. General George Armstrong Custer. History buffs have made the site of his famous last battle enormously popular. When visiting the lonely tombstones of Custer's fallen soldiers and the Indian War Memorial, visitors swear they can almost hear the chaotic sounds of war and feel the sheer terror of that 1876 battle. Near Crow Agency.

MAKOSHIKA STATE PARK

To the Sioux Indians, Makoshika (pronounced ma-KO-she-ka) meant "bad earth" or "bad land." Today, as Montana's largest state park, the pine- and juniper-studded badland formations house the fossil remains of such dinosaurs as Tyrannosaurus rex and Triceratops. You'll find a visitor center at the park entrance with exhibits explaining the site's geologic, fossil, and prehistoric stories. Near Glendive.

MEDICINE ROCKS STATE PARK

Medicine Rocks was a place of "big medicine," where Indian hunting parties conjured up magical spirits. Weathering has given the soft sandstone rock formations a Swiss-cheese look, providing a unique landscape filled with meaning and serenity. You'll enjoy photography, hiking and wildlife viewing in this remote and primitive site 14 miles north of Ekalaka.

POMPEYS PILLAR NATIONAL MONUMENT

Pompeys Pillar is a sandstone history book 28 miles east of Billings on I-94 that reads like a who's who of western frontier history. Look for the remains of animal drawings created by people who used the area for rendezvous, campsites and hunting. In 1806, Captain William Clark carved his signature and the date, the only remaining physical evidence along the trail of the Lewis & Clark Expedition.

Crow Fair and Rodeo

Crow Agency

From every western state and Canada, Indians come to camp along the Little Bighorn River to form the "Tepee Capital of the World." There are spectacular parades each morning featuring authentic costumes, an all-Indian rodeo with cowboys from throughout the nation, pari-mutuel wagering, wild horse races and Indian dancing.

CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE & CVBs

Welcome! Communities displaying the Montana Superhost sign support staffed visitor information centers, provide a wide variety of local and statewide tourism information and sponsor annual Montana Superhost training for businesses that serve visitors. Montana's Superhost communities will help make your trip to Montana an even more memorable one. Communities shown in bold participated in Montana Superhost training this past year. Many individual chambers and CVBs (Convention & Visitors Bureaus) have websites. You can find their links at www.montanachamber.net. All Montana phone numbers are reached by area code 406.
